Re: Loan DEMO-4821 — Notice of amendment: principal postponement

1. Purpose of this notice

This notice confirms an amendment to the repayment terms of loan DEMO-4821 for Atelier Boréal Inc. and describes its effect on your payments, interest and final payment date. It is the formal reference for the plain-language explanations in this demonstration.

This is a synthetic notice prepared for a concept demonstration. The client, the loan and all amounts are fictional. It is not an actual BDC notice, offer or agreement.

2. Amendment summary

At the request of the client, Atelier Boréal Inc., and to support a planned seasonal inventory build, a temporary principal postponement on loan DEMO-4821 has been approved and completed in this fictional scenario. The amendment takes effect on November 1, 2026.

The amendment changes when principal is repaid. It does not change the interest rate or reduce the principal owing.

Amendment summary

Type of amendment	Principal postponement (3 months)
Status	Approved and completed (fictional scenario)
Effective date	November 1, 2026
Change fee	$0.00
Customer acceptance required through this notice	No

3. Principal postponement period

The principal payments otherwise due in November 2026, December 2026 and January 2027 are postponed. For each of these months, the principal payable is $0.00.

In total, $12,000.00 of principal is postponed. This principal is not cancelled or reduced: it remains owing and is repaid in later instalments under the revised schedule.

4. Interest during the postponement

Interest continues to accrue on the outstanding principal of $240,000.00 at the fixed annual rate of 8.00%, and is payable monthly during the postponement period.

Each payment due during the postponement period is $1,600.00, consisting entirely of interest. Because no principal is repaid during this period, the monthly interest does not decrease.

No interest is capitalised (added to the principal) as a result of this amendment.

5. Resumption of principal payments

Principal payments resume with the payment due on February 28, 2027. From that date, each monthly payment consists of a principal instalment of $4,000.00 plus interest on the outstanding principal.

The first resumed payment, due on February 28, 2027, is $5,600.00: $4,000.00 of principal and $1,600.00 of interest. The interest portion then decreases each month as principal is repaid.

6. Revised maturity date

The final payment date (maturity date) changes from October 31, 2031 to January 31, 2032.

The revised schedule has 63 monthly payments starting November 30, 2026, instead of 60 under the original schedule.

7. Effect on interest and total payments

Because principal is repaid later, more interest is payable over the remaining schedule. Compared with the original schedule:

- Total interest over the complete remaining schedule increases from $48,800.00 to $53,600.00, an increase of $4,800.00.
- Total remaining payments increase from $288,800.00 to $293,600.00.
- Payments due from November 2026 to January 2027 total $4,800.00 instead of $16,720.00, a reduction of $11,920.00. This equals the $12,000.00 of postponed principal less $80.00 of additional interest payable during those months.
- The $80.00 of additional interest payable during those months forms part of the $4,800.00 increase in total interest. It is not charged in addition to it.

In this example, the payments due from November 2026 to January 2027 ($4,800.00) and the increase in total interest ($4,800.00) happen to be the same amount. They measure different things.

The postponed principal of $12,000.00 remains owing. This amendment does not cancel or reduce any amount owing.

8. Terms that remain unchanged

This amendment changes only the timing of principal repayment described above. The following remain unchanged:

- The fixed annual interest rate of 8.00%.
- The monthly principal instalment of $4,000.00, once principal payments resume.
- No fee is charged for this amendment (change fee: $0.00).
- All other terms and conditions of loan DEMO-4821.

9. What you need to do

Please review this notice and the revised repayment schedule, and update your internal cash-flow planning to reflect the new payment amounts and dates.

No acceptance, signature or reply is required through this notice. This document does not process any payment, and no payment can be made through it.

Your next payment under the revised schedule is $1,600.00 on November 30, 2026.

10. Revised repayment schedule

The revised schedule below lists all 63 remaining monthly payments, from November 30, 2026 to January 31, 2032. It replaces the original schedule from the effective date, November 1, 2026.

Illustrative financing schedule, not a BDC offer. Amounts in Canadian dollars.

11. Assumptions used in this illustration

The schedules in this notice are an illustration based on the following simulation assumptions. They are not actual BDC servicing conventions.

1. Monthly interest is calculated at the fixed annual rate of 8.00% divided by 12, applied to the opening principal for the month and rounded half-up to the nearest cent.

2. Payments fall on the last calendar day of each month, with no business-day adjustment.
3. No interest is capitalised (added to the principal).
4. No new advances and no additional or early repayments are assumed.
5. The illustrated schedule starts on November 1, 2026; loan history and interest before that date are not reconstructed.

12. Questions and support

For questions about this notice, use Help & questions in this demonstration to read answers to common questions, look up terms in the glossary or prepare a question about a specific clause. You can also ask Clair, the demonstration assistant, to explain any clause.

In this concept demonstration, nothing is sent to BDC and no BDC contact details are provided. In an actual notice, this section would explain how to reach your BDC account manager.

This synthetic notice was prepared for a concept demonstration. It was not issued by BDC and does not create, change or confirm any actual financing terms.
